

What happened to Lil' Charles from Sweetie Pies?

Sweetie Pies is an exciting reality television show revolving around former Ikettes, Robbie Montgomery, and their collection of soul food restaurants. The show's been popular among food lovers that love the drama surrounding the restaurants' daily operations. One of the most popular characters that fans love for being himself is Lil' Charles, Robbie Montgomery's nephew. He brings a particularly unique flavour to the reality television show. What is Lil' Charles from Sweetie Pies up to currently?

If you have watched reality television, you likely have a favourite character that you cannot wait to watch going about their lives. Although most of such films are based on specific themes and have primary characters, some secondary cast makes everything enjoyable. Such is Lil' Charles's case, who has created great interest in his life considering his fantastic performance in the show. So, what is Lil Charles from Sweetie Pies doing now?

Who is Lil' Charles? Lil' Charles, real name Charles Crenshaw is a reality television star that appeared on one of OWN's highest-rated reality television shows, Welcome to Sweeties Pies. He featured as a delivery driver from St. Louis but had ambitions to become a manager.

Lil' Charles was born on January 29, 1989, in the United States of America. This means that he is 32 years old as of 2021. He graduated from Hazelwood Central High School in 2008 and has been working at Sweetie Pies since he was fifteen years old. He has been featured in the reality television show Welcome to Sweetie Pies with other actors, including Tim Norman, Jenae Wallick, and Danielle Champion.