

Bridge Program honors latest college-bound seniors to complete Express Scripts Saturday Academy

Hazelwood Central High School senior Folasade Fanegan delivered the student keynote address during Saturday's Express Scripts Saturday Academy Award Recognition Ceremony

Hazelwood Central High School senior Folasade Fanegan delivered the student keynote address during Saturday's Express Scripts Saturday Academy Award Recognition Ceremony.

Bridge has been helping high school students such as Wright prepare for college success since 1986. It has developed one of the most successful and widely emulated models for comprehensive, year-round college preparation programming in the country, providing academic enrichment courses in mathematics, science and written and oral communication, as well as personal and professional development and college planning through its Express Scripts Saturday Academy. Bridge students come from a range of academic backgrounds – public schools, private schools and homeschooled – and they include people from every racial, ethnic and socioeconomic group. During the program's first 34 years, the students hailed from somewhere in the St. Louis region, but, COVID-19 precautions forced the curriculum to shift to a virtual format this year – and presented an opportunity to expand Bridge's reach. There were 18 out-of-state students who took part in this year's Saturday Academy, and they came from as far away as Arkansas, Georgia, Maryland, Virginia and Washington, all attracted by the program's record of success. CLICK THE LINK BELOW FOR THE FULL STORY